

Supporting Pupils with Autism in Your Setting

One Day Course

This course will provide you with an understanding of what autism means for the individual. You will also develop the skills to implement autism specific strategies which support communication, interaction, sensory sensitivities and behaviour in education settings

Course Objectives

- To understand what autism is and how individuals with autism experience the world
- To raise sensory awareness, explore and implement strategies which support sensory sensitivities
- To explore the complexities of communication for an individual with autism
- To support effective communication using autism specific strategies
- To use practical examples to solve problems and support behaviour

Delivered by Claire Iddon and Emma Cookson

Cost: £125

When & Where: 6th March 2025, 9am-3.30pm, Hothersall Suite at Hillside, Ribchester Road, Longridge, Preston, PR3 3XB

Please note; This venue is accessed via stairs. If this will present any difficulties for you, please let us know

This course can be delivered as INSET at your venue, please enquire!

HOW TO APPLY

Please contact school as soon as possible (we operate a first come, first served basis as this particular course is kept to a small group)

☎ Telephone: 01772 782205

✉ Email: hillside@hillside.lancs.sch.uk